

THROUGH FAITH MISSIONS

Through Faith Missions (TFM) exists to do evangelism, serving local churches and Christian organisations and involving many other Christians in the task.

MISSIONS

Helping us with a legacy

For over thirty years Through Faith Missions (TFM) has been committed to reaching out to the people of this and other nations with the Good News of Jesus Christ. In that time over 4,000 men and women have participated in our missions, from single church events to our large Walk missions covering whole counties or regions. People of all ages have heard the gospel, many for the first time, and thousands have responded.

We are not funded by any major denomination or organisation. We offer our services free of charge only asking for costs to cover our expenses. Our ministry is funded by a small group of committed individuals who share our vision of going out and sharing the Good News in a society that has increasingly turned its back on God.

Would you consider leaving Through Faith Missions a legacy in your will? For many their limited income and savings stop them from supporting us as much as they would want. However, those who own a home or other assets are able to make a real difference by remembering us in their will.

Remembering TFM in your will

Whatever amount you choose to leave TFM your support will enable us to continue and develop our work. Here are a few answers to questions you may have:

Why should I have a will? Making a will is the best way to ensure that your money goes to the people you want it to. In some circumstances it can make financial sense as charitable gifts can be exempt from inheritance tax.

How do I make a will? Contact your solicitor or legal adviser who, for a small fee, will advise you and draw up your will. They can give advice on the different ways of leaving a legacy such as a share of what is left in your estate after all your other wishes have been met, a specific sum of money or a specific bequest of an item of value. Make sure your solicitor includes our full details including our address and registered charity no. 801113.

Can I change my existing will? Yes, if you already have a will your solicitor or legal adviser can assist you in filling out a short form called a codicil allowing you to make changes to your existing will.
